CAN YOU GUESS.

Here's a Chance to Make Ten Dollars Easy.

All You Have to Do Is to Pick the Winners In the Coming Primary.

Just for the interest attached to a guessing contest and to put a little more interest into the coming eampaign for County officers, THE News will give its readers a chance make ten dollars and have a ttle fun at guessing on the side.

To the person making the first nearest correct guess of the winers in the Democratic Primary Election which will be held in this ounty on Saturday, June 1st, 1901, THE NEWS will present a ten dollar gold piece. The conditions of the contest are simple. Old subrcribers and new subscribers who pay $2 on their subscriptions will each be entitled to a guess, and to as many guesses as they pay year's subscription. 'If no one guesses orrectly, the first one who guesse he closest to all the winners will eceive the ten dollars. You intend to pay your sub-June and have a chance of getting your money back, besides gaining the distinction of knowing more about the political situation than your neighbors.

Each guess will be registered when received as to the exact day, hour and minute. No one will be Glasgow discovered naphtha and, dispermitted to see how any one else solving rubber in it, produced a varnish caterpillars over one's body from head has guessed. Why They Were Selected.

It has been recorded that General Henry Knox, in 1783, was the "greatest" of 11 distinguished officers of the army, weighing 280 pounds. Noah Brooks, in his book entitled "Henry Knox," gives the following incident relating to the general's full habit:

With a Captain Sargent, he was seof congress. One of the congressmen, wishing to show his wit and sarcasm, said that he had never seen a fatter man than General Knox nor a better dressed man than his associate.

Knox managed to keep his temper and remained silent, but his subordinate retorted, "The corps, out of re spect to congress and themselves, have Fer list of candidates see the ansent as their representatives the only close it and two dollars in envelope and man who possessed a complete suit of Millions Made by Planting Trees. Any one who takes a vital interest in the welfare of his grandchildren can insure their being rich by planting trees on treeless land, which land he can leave to them in his will. Some big British fortunes have been provided for in this manner. A predecessor of the present Duke of Athole had a lot of land, but it was not especially valuable—in fact, he was "land poor."

He determined that his descendants should fare better and so began planting trees. In the course of his lifetime he planted 14,095,719 larch trees alone, covering an area of 10,324 acres. His last plantation covered 7,800 acres, which in the ordinary way becomes forest of mature timber 70 years after planting. Thinned down to about 350 trees an acre, each tree will contain at least 50 cubic feet of timber, which, at 25 cents a foot, gives a sum of $4,375 an acre, a total for the value of the timber on the last plantation alone of $34,500,000. The whole initial outlay for this plantation, which has so increased the wealth of the ancient house of Athole

Abe Lincoln. Of all the great men I have known Lincoln is the one who has left upon me the impression of a sterling son of God. Straightforward, unflinching, not loving the work he had to do, but facing it with a bold and true heart; mild whenever he had a chance, stern as iron when the public weal required it, following a bee line to the goal which duty set before him. I can still feel the grip of his massive hand and the labor is done, the natural process of searching look of his kindly eye. I resilkmaking is interfered with. The Erring One.

It is impossible for one who never goes wrong nor makes a mistake nor nmits a blunder to know just how to be sorry for an erring one. We must stumble ourselves before we can really judge of the hardships of a rough road and the frailty of weary feet. True character is first tender, then hopeful and afterward reformatory. - Exchange.

Young Women

The entry into womanhood is a critical time for a girl. Little menstrual disorders started at that time soon grow into fatal complications. That female troubles are lilling graveyards proves this. Wine of Cardul establishes a painless and natural menstrual flow. When once this important function is started right, a healthy life will usually follow. WIGGINS is a deep, rich-colored bay horse of perfect conformation and posesses every trait and quality that go to make up an ideal stallion. As a 2-yr-old he started in six races and won five straight without losing a heat and could have taken a mark of 2:15 or better. He is a horse of magnificent style and appearance and has proven himself true to his royal pedigree in every respect. He is a young horse in the stud and thus far has had limited opportunities, but his colts show remarkable speed with pure gait and level head. According to his worth and attainments, he stands to-day at a lower fee than any stallion in Kentucky. Send your best mare to him now if you want a trotter and a fortune.

The Curious Story Connected With the White House of Bab-el-Mandeb. A Monument of the Undoing of a French Admiral.

On the foreshore of the Arabian coast in the strait of Bab-el-Mandeb, at the southern entrance to the Red sea, stands a large white house concerning which the travelers to the far east may hear a curious story. In the middle of the nineteenth century, when M. de Lesseps, after many difficulties, had successfully floated the Suez Canal company, the governor of the British port of Aden, about 100 miles distant, was surprised one morning by the visit of a French squadron of very unusual size for that part of the orient which, having encountered a terrific storm off

Sokotra, had put in for repairs. In the mind of the governor curiosity was at once aroused as to the destination of so large a command, a curiosity which increased as he found it impossi ble to extract any further information from the French admiral or his officers beyond the statement that they were upon an ordinary cruise, an explanation which the former was not the least inclined to believe. Firm in the belief, therefore, that some political move of great impor-tance was afloat if not afoot, the governor, in order first of all to gain time, gave orders to go very tortoiselike on the renairs and then set to work to take the Frenchmen off their guard by giving a succession of such entertainments as both his slender means and the awful barrenness of the place would af-

the French and British officers had got upon the best of terms the immediate destination of the French squadron remained as much of a mystery to the governor of Aden as before, and in spite of all possible delay the repairs were nearly completed. Now, it happened that the wife of the governor possessed an Irish maid, who had been receiving attentions from one of the French petty officersattentions which the girl did not regard seriously. It occurred to the governor that by such means something might be learned of his unexpected visitor's plans, and a private conversation between the governor's wife and her maid resulted in another between the latter and her French admirer, by which it was discovered that Perim island was the objective point. At this information the governor opened his eyes wide indeed, for, if the Suez canal were cut through, Perim, as commanding the southern entrance to the Red sea, in the middle of the strait of Bab-el-Mandeb, would be a place of great strategic importance, over which, without doubt, it was the intention of the French admiral to hoist the tri-Secretly giving orders, therefore, for a gunboat to immediately embark a detachment of soldiers and steal away in the night for Perim island, the governor then announced a farewell banquet and ball for the day but one following, a final act of courtesy with which the French admiral would willingly have dispensed, for he was anxious to sail,

So the dinner and party in due course came off, the governor being in high spirits, because in the meantime he had received the news of the occupation of Perim, which under the circumstances would surely be followed by the longed was equally happy, for he hoped on the morrow to add the same important little speck of land to the dominion of his own country, thereby covering his breast with the stars and himself with his officers when, on coming in sight of their destination, they beheld the British flag flying and a company of soldiers drawn up to give them a proper salute. It is said the French admiral was so mortified at being thus outwitted that he first flung his cocked hat overboard and then followed it himself

Be this as it may, as Perim was clearly already occupied by the British, the only counter move which the French could make was to take possession of a strip of the foreshore on the opposite Arabian coast, where they ilt the fortified white house in question, but as the place was entirely at the mercy of the guns on Perim Island it was shortly abandoned, to remain to this day as a monument of a French admiral's undoing.-Exchange.

FAUST'S WILD CHARGE. It Sent Marguerite Flying In Terror

The name of the hero of this anec dote I shall not give you, for he has long since been gathered to his fathers. Let it suffice that in his heyday he was one of the greatest tenors who ever sang to a breathless and enthusiastic audience. He had a penchant, however, for the red, red wine, which in the end proved his undoing and ulti-mately provided a pathetic ending for his drinking seemed only to affect his legs, but never his head or voice. He could always sing and sing true, but at Faust on this occasion got to the oth-Faust on this occasion got to the other side of the stage all right, but trouble arose when he tried to get back.

Marguerite sits in the window of her cottage, and Faust comes back and kisses her through the window. Faust measured the distance with a wabbling eye, but made a start when his cue was given. Then he seemed to lose control of himself. One-quarter way across he was trotting, one-half way the trot was a run, and the remainder of the way it had become a gallop.

Up to this point Miss Abbott stood her ground bravely, but that rapidly paching figure awed her, and with a frightened scream she fled. Faust, poor Faust, charged on. He reached the place he had last seen Marguerite and essayed to clasp the atmosphere in outstretched arms. Then his impetus by some one else. The Mysterious Sunday Disease.

Many people are seemingly well dur-ing the week, but afflicted with all manner of ailments when Sunday comes well again. I really dread the approach of the Lord's day, for with the day there come to many of my flock colds, sick headaches, pain in the side

"I have been suffering from Dyspepsia for the past twenty years and have been unable after trying all preparations and obvicians to get any relief. After taking one bottle of Kodol Dyspepsia Care I found relief; am now in better health than I have been for twenty years. I can not praise Kodol Dyspepsia Care too highly." Thus writes Mrs. C. W. Roberts, North Creek, Ark.—W. T. Brooks.
